Yunus Social Business Centre Conference
in Sustainable and Socially Responsible Finance (2022).
October 6th – 7th, 2022 – Alma Mater Studiorum – Università di Bologna, Forlì Campus.

The Yunus Social Business Centre and the Department of Management at the University of Bologna are organizing the first edition of the Sustainable and Socially Responsible Finance Conference that will take place in person on October 6th and 7th.

Socially responsible investing refers to investment strategies that generate positive financial returns and do good for society. The responsible and impact investing market has significantly grown in the last years. Still, many concerns remain over greenwashing, inadequate regulations, and lack of common metrics to measure social change by the financial industry.

Moreover, climate change poses a significant risk for financial institutions, non-financial firms, and households. To name a few, energy, transportation, and financial services firms are directly and indirectly affected by global warming and the transitional risks. How to finance the sustainability transition and guarantee a positive return for shareholders remains an open question.
